CUI Roundtable Breakfast Seminar:

Utopia – Toronto by any other name?

February 9, 2006

Toronto, February 6, 2006 – Move over, Sir Thomas More. The recent publication of Utopia – Towards a New Toronto, edited by Jason McBride and Alana Wilcox, has deservedly attracted media attention but has also helped stimulate discussion about the kind of Toronto people want. Although the visions may differ, passion for the city is evident in every piece in the book. We have invited some of the contributors to this anthology to talk about what inspires their take on Toronto – on cities generally – as well the teacher responsible for the only high school course on Utopia currently being offered. Join us for an entertaining and – we hope – inspiring session on moving Toronto to the next level.

WHAT: The Canadian Urban Institute's Roundtable Breakfast Series offers informal debates on the leading urban issues of the day.
